

ENTERTAINING OUTDOORS - TWO PROJECTS IN ONE

Client Testimonial

"I would like to say that you were all very helpful. It wasn't the easiest of installations but everything has been put together excellently. It looks fab and we are the envy of our neighbours. Thank you for your professional, polite, tidy and clean workmanship – your guys were excellent."

Overview

The transformation of two separate areas with a Renson Louvered Canopy and an Outdoor Kitchen maximised the potential for entertaining and relaxing for this client.

Background

This client has a large roof terrace leading out from his kitchen and wished to develop this into a permanent dining area to indulge his love of BBQs and alfresco dining.

The client also wanted to create a shaded area over existing patio for a relaxed seating area leading out from the main indoor entertaining space.

Proposal - Renson Louvered Canopy over patio

The client needed a shade solution for his existing patio. The use of this valuable space was hampered by the direct sunlight received on the patio and glass doors of their lounge.

A Renson Louvered Canopy was the ideal solution for this - their reputation for bringing the highest quality materials and workmanship to the sun protection market made them the first choice for our client.

To create a relaxing space that can be used at all times of the day we recommended a Heat Beam with infrared heaters, LED lights inside the frame for a dimmable warm glow and a rain sensor to provide immediate patio coverage, and a remote control for ease of use.

The client selected RAL 7040 as the frame colour, providing a classic grey finish against the existing property.

Proposal - Outdoor Kitchen on roof terrace

Our client had a fantastic decked roof terrace with direct links to the indoor kitchen. Already elegantly styled with topiary, lighting and dining furniture, the client wanted to add a built-in BBQ for a more social entertaining space.

We recommended an “L shape” outdoor kitchen at one end of the terrace, encompassing a Fire Magic Echelon 660 gas BBQ with rotisserie and backburner, a side burner and an outdoor fridge. We also recommended to the client inclusion of a wood-fired pizza oven - a great addition when creating a fun and interactive cooking area. For this design we allowed for the client to face his guests when operating the BBQ, leaving an open worksurface to one side, ensuring guest interactions are maximised.

Build

With the garden and roof terrace already finished to a high standard it was important that in areas with restricted access extra care was taken when moving materials. As such all materials for the Outdoor Kitchen on the roof terrace were hand carried upstairs with appropriate coverings laid down over the existing decking. The customer used a third party renderer to create a render effect to match the rest of the property, and the project was timescaled to allow for third party completion before we returned to install the Outdoor Kitchen equipment.

The Renson Louvered Canopy is located at the back of the property that required access down steps. With the long beams of the Renson to be accommodated materials were again hand carried to ensure minimal disruption to the established garden. Rather than blocking any of the existing glass doors, the Renson Louvered Canopy was wall mounted with two front pillars to create the overall covered effect.
